DiscussIT Topic 6: Where is our country headed?

Discuss IT Topic: Over the last week, our country has had growing concerns on immigration bans, border safety, and executive orders that remind us of issues that have been plaguing our country for years. Now that Trump has been elected President, there has been people threatening to blow up the White House, human right protests, and a plethora of other sensitive subject matters that are very compelling to individual groups of people. Why have these issues come up now as we head into a time in which it seems no one is going to be happy with the outcomes? Will this create a split in this country and place citizens against one another when it comes to their views? In your opinion, what other topics are at the forefront of concern? Explain.

Response: Please make sure all grammar, spelling, indentation, and punctuation is correct.

Every time a new president is elected there is groups of people who are angry because their pick didn't win, I don't think it helps that Trump is sort of a controversial man, that's sort why I think people are getting so angry. Although yes, people are arguing whether it be over social media or at public faces, I think eventually people will calm their anger down. I don't think anything close to the country being divide will go down, that's too far. As of right now I believe that's the main problem the country is facing as a whole.
